Course Syllabus

Course Description
This class simulates the politics and the procedures of the African Union (AU). The AU is a regional organization comprised of 54 African member states. This overarching partnership attempts to address collectively some of the more pressing contemporary African issues in security, the rule of law, democracy, institution building, economic growth, and human development. In this class, students will climb into the heads of African diplomats and simulate how they pursue their particular national/regime interests. After spending several weeks preparing, we will travel to Washington, D.C. and perform.

The course has three intersecting goals. The first is theoretical, encouraging students to look more broadly at how Africa’s international relations work as a distinct region of the world. The second is practical, allowing students to examine how these relations play out through the nuts and bolts of high diplomacy, which involves making arguments, charming, cajoling, arm-twisting, and horse-trading in the context of a legislative organization. Finally, students will learn the formal rules of parliamentary procedure, which involves drafting resolutions, making amendments, and voting.

Course Objectives
- To increase awareness of the role, structure and performance of the African Union
- To highlight key economic, social and political-security issues facing the African continent
- To generate understanding of the multi-various determinants, capabilities and constraints that shape the foreign policies of member states of the African Union
- To demonstrate the patterns of cooperation and conflict that characterize intra-African diplomacy in the search for solutions to continental issues
- Distinguish their own views from those of others and can defend their own perspective
- Demonstrate mastery of the independent research process
Course Requirements
In addition to regularly attending class sessions, students will be expected to conduct a great deal of independent research and present this research to one another in preparation for the trip to Washington, D.C. In doing so, students will develop expertise on either Burundi or Sudan. They will also become experts on a range of agenda items within a particular AU committee.

Course Materials
Your main resource is the Model AU Delegation and Officer’s Handbook. You will conduct research for everything else at the Addlestone Library. Steven Profit is the library’s research librarian specializing in Africa – profits@cofc.edu, 953-5855. Delegations should schedule an orientation with him at the beginning of the semester.
