Course Objective/Overview: This course is an overview of the development of political ideas in the United States. We will address the Colonial and Founding Eras, Race, Women, Imperialism and its Critics, Contemporary Ideologies, Constitutional issues, and some of the dominant historical and current issues addressed by political thinkers.

Ideas spring from contexts which provide the motivations and justifications for action; they have had a profound influence on policies, elections, conflicts, and political culture. American political thought is uniquely skeptical of government and looks to it for solutions.

We will focus on the unique “conservatism” of American political thought and culture: Almost every American critic, reformer and activist cite the U.S. Constitution in their demands for change. This course is structured in a way that connects historical debates over government to contemporary political policies and debates.

OAKS: OAKS, including Gradebook, will be used for this course throughout the semester to provide the syllabus and class materials and grades for each assignment, which will be posted regularly.

If we have to go remote because of quarantine:

College of Charleston Honor Code and Academic Integrity:

Lying, cheating, attempted cheating, and plagiarism are violations of our Honor Code that, when suspected, are investigated. Each incident will be examined to determine the degree of deception involved.

Incidents where the instructor determines the student’s actions are related more to misunderstanding and confusion will be handled by the instructor. The instructor designs an intervention or assigns a grade reduction to help prevent the student from repeating the error. The response is recorded on a form and signed both by the instructor and the student. It is forwarded to the Office of the Dean of Students and placed in the student’s file.

Cases of suspected academic dishonesty will be reported directly by the instructor and/or others having knowledge of the incident to the Dean of Students. A student found responsible by the Honor Board for academic dishonesty will receive a XXF in the course, indicating failure of the course due to academic dishonesty. This status indicator will appear on the student’s transcript for two years after which the student may petition for the XX to be expunged. The F is permanent.

Students can find the complete Honor Code and all related processes in the Student Handbook at:
