Objective: This course is an overview of the development of Political concepts and approaches to the study of politics. We will focus on primary texts by classical and modern political thinkers. A primary goal is to develop the ability to compare different conceptions of a common subject (liberty, duty, justice, etc.). Our aim is to improve our understanding of the relationship between political thought and its historical context and to expand our abilities to comprehend, evaluate and discuss complex political ideas.

OAKS: OAKS, including Gradebook, will be used for this course throughout the semester to provide the syllabus and class materials and grades for each assignment, which will be posted regularly.

Class Participation:

Do it: a) Read to know the topic. b) Be prepared to ask and answer questions thoughtfully. c) Express yourself. d) Experience aware-ness.

Papers: 3 papers are required for this course. I will elaborate and post instructions on OAKS.

Your work must be original. You need to investigate your topic using books and scholarly journals. All papers need internal citations and a works cited page! Cite everything. Cite every fact, opinion, analysis, summary, paraphrasing, and quotation. Not doing so (by intent or by inattentiveness) is plagiarism. This can result in a failing grade for a paper. Using the work of others as your own is also plagiarism. Plagiarism results in a failing grade for the course. Plagiarism will be reported to the Honor Council.

Use the Cloud. “My computer died.” is no longer a valid excuse.

Use Spell-Check. There is no reason for typos in your paper.

Read your own work for grammar, clarity, & syntax. Don’t turn in “word salad”.

You cannot forget when your paper is due. This is the reminder.

Students With Disabilities:
The College will make reasonable accommodations for persons with documented disabilities. Students should apply for services at the Center for Disability Services/SNAP located on the first floor of the Lightsey Center, Suite 104. College of Charleston Honor Code and Academic Integrity:
Lying, cheating, attempted cheating, and plagiarism are violations of our Honor Code that, when suspected, are investigated. Each incident will be examined to determine the degree of deception involved.

Incidents where the instructor determines the student’s actions are related more to misunderstanding and confusion will be handled by the instructor. The instructor designs an intervention or assigns a grade reduction to help prevent the student from repeating the error. The response is recorded on a form and signed both by the instructor and the student. It is forwarded to the Office of the Dean of Students and placed in the student’s file.

Cases of suspected academic dishonesty will be reported directly by the instructor and/or others having knowledge of the incident to the Dean of Students. A student found responsible by the Honor Board for academic dishonesty will receive a XXF in the course, indicating failure of the course due to academic dishonesty. This status indicator will appear on the student’s transcript for two years after which the student may petition for the XX to be expunged. The F is permanent.

Students can find the complete Honor Code and all related processes in the Student Handbook at:
