COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course will introduce you to political theory, or the normative branch of the study of politics. “Normative” refers to matters rooted in judgments about what ought to be – by contrast, empirical political science examines how things are. While political theory engages with empirical scholarship, its primary focus will always be prescriptive, rather than descriptive. Political theory evaluates political practices, institutions, ideologies, and principles. In this class, we will explore the ideas underlying politics, both historically and in the present.

Objectives: This course offers you an opportunity to familiarize yourself with important texts and foundational concepts in political theory. In addition to becoming conversant with “the canon,” loosely (but thoughtfully) interpreted, you will be expected to engage political concepts critically, with an eye to both what they meant in their own historical contexts and to what insights they can continue to offer us today.

Questions to consider include:

- Why do we engage in politics? Why should you participate politically?
- What does it mean to treat people equally?
- What should constitute “the political,” and what relationship should that have to everyday life?
- What is a good citizen? Does being a good citizen conflict with being a good person?
- What is the just relationship between the individual and society?

Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Demonstrate knowledge of key thinkers and concepts over time (quizzes, exams and papers)
- Compare thinkers on similar concepts (papers and exam essays)
- Use concepts to analyze new situations (papers, exam essays)
- Interpret texts by identifying and explaining arguments in their contexts (papers and exams)
- Evaluate interpretations of concepts (papers and exam essays)
- Explain the nature and value of normative thinking (papers and exam essays)

REQUIREMENTS:

Participation and engagement: We will cover a lot of ground in this course, and the semester will pass quickly. As such, it is important to consider how you will meet the participation and engagement requirements of this class. Different people prefer to participate in different ways, and it is each student's responsibility to ensure that they are fully engaged with the class.

Your thoughtful and civil engagement will be essential to enhance your own and your peers' learning throughout the semester. Everyone should show curiosity and respect for each other and for different commitments and experiences. This is an intro-level course, so you will almost certainly encounter new and unfamiliar ideas. Students should feel free to revise their positions in light of new information; as such, please consider each other's statements from a position of patience and interpretive charity. At the same time, kindly bear in mind that each of your classmates comes to the course with their own set of experiences. Please be sensitive to the possible effects of your statements on your classmates – what may be an abstract idea that is up for debate to one student may, to another, be a very real experience that can be painful or difficult to discuss.

You cannot participate actively in this class if you are not present. I strongly discourage missing class – we move quickly and while it is easy to fall behind, it is difficult to catch up again. You should aim to miss no more than three class meetings – If you incur any additional absences, please make arrangements with me to ensure you will be prepared to meet the class requirements.

Designated meetings will be used for discussion of that day's readings and themes. Everything in the class – including the content of class discussions – may appear on assessments. A significant portion of your grade is determined by participation, so I strongly encourage you to always come prepared with a passage from that week's readings that you would like to discuss, in case you are called on in class. I will periodically ask students to suggest a passage, read it aloud to the class, and explain (briefly) why they believe it to be significant.

The meeting periods for this class will be heavily focused upon discussion, so it is important that you complete the readings prior to class meetings. Participation in both full-class discussions and breakout groups constitute essential components of this class.

Class meetings: We will meet as scheduled three times weekly. The class is scheduled to meet as an in-person course but will move entirely to Zoom if required by the state, the College, or changing circumstances.

- If you receive a positive COVID-19 test, please isolate in accordance with CDC guidance and College policy. You may view the course via Zoom for your isolation period.
- If the instructor becomes ill or experiences an exposure, class will be taught via Zoom during her period of isolation/awaiting test results.
- Please do not come to class if you are ill. Regardless of whether it is COVID-19, a cold, flu, etc., you have an obligation not to expose unwilling others to the risk of illness. If you are not well, please make arrangements to participate via Zoom.
- Coughing is disruptive under the current circumstances. Please do not come to class if you are coughing. Regardless of College-wide mask policies, students who are coughing or sneezing will be asked to wear a face covering.

Face coverings: Please review the College's policies on COVID-19 safety here:
<https://cofc.edu/back-on-the-bricks/academics-and-classrooms/classroom-policies/index.php>

Please see the "Policies" section below for further details.

ASSIGNMENTS

There are 1000 points to be earned in this course. The distribution of the points is listed below.

Reading quizzes (OAKS) 250 (25%)

Short paper I 100 (10%)

Short paper II 100 (10%)

Final take-home exam 200 (20%)

Story analysis paper 100 (100%) (due 03/16)

Engagement 250 (25%) 50 points, first half; 100 points second half; 50 points for author expertise

Late Work Policy: I am sympathetic to the challenges facing everyone as the pandemic drags on, and I recognize that these conditions can affect class performance for many students. In an effort to balance the needs of students with the need to administer this course fairly and efficiently, the policy in this class will be to allow for one (1) assignment to be turned in after the deadline. The following parameters apply:

- No permission is necessary. You may have one late assignment, no questions asked, no explanation needed.
- The final exam cannot be turned in as your late assignment.
- To receive credit, the assignment must be turned in within two weeks of the listed deadline.
- You should follow up with the instructor to ensure that the assignment is graded before final grades are due, as grades on late work will not be entered with those of the rest of the class.
- Choose wisely. Because you are allowed one late assignment, any additional late work will not be accepted except in truly extraordinary and well documented circumstances.

Extra Credit: Extra credit is available. You may attend any Political Science Department event at the College of Charleston (talk, etc.) and write a 300-500 word response to it. Each response is worth 10 points. You may turn in a maximum of five extra credit assignments over the course of the semester. Please turn them in to the Extra Credit Dropbox folder on OAKS. Talks in other departments (sociology, anthropology, history, African American Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, etc.) may also qualify. Please request authorization for talks outside of the Political Science Department. Please see the “Extra Credit” posting on OAKS for further information and for online alternatives.

POLICIES

Health and Safety: For COVID-19 related updates, please see: <https://cofc.edu/back-on-the-bricks/>. I, along with President Hsu and campus leadership, strongly encourage all members of the campus community to wear face coverings while around others indoors. The College of Charleston continues to strongly encourage all students to get vaccinated to mitigate the spread of COVID-19. For those students who are not vaccinated, health experts encourage monthly testing; the College offers free voluntary weekly testing on campus to facilitate this effort.

The College-wide requirement for wearing face coverings takes effect immediately, as of Tuesday, August 17, and the requirement will be reviewed on a monthly basis to determine its appropriateness and duration.

Face coverings are required in the classroom at all times. If at any time any student does not comply with face-covering requirements, class will be canceled for that day. This policy will remain in effect so long as the mask requirement remains in effect.

As a reminder, violations of health and safety regulations are also conduct violations and they will be referred to the Honor Board.

Syllabus: This syllabus is a guide and it contains vital information about the class. Please read it carefully. This syllabus is subject to change.

Communication: The best way to reach me is via email (mcginnisbl@cofc.edu). Class communications will be conducted via your College of Charleston email, so please be certain to check it regularly. I will read and respond to email within 48 hours, Monday-Friday, during regular business hours (9am-6pm). Response times will be longer on weekends, just prior to exams, and during breaks. Please first consult the syllabus to see if your question is answered here.

Etiquette: Please be respectful. We will discuss contentious issues in this class and there will be times when you may be upset, but you are expected to listen and respond thoughtfully to your colleagues – even when you vehemently disagree with them on matters of great importance to you.

Please address every person in this class as they specify – that means by the name, pronoun, etc. that they indicate (both verbally and in written communication). The convention at the College of Charleston is to address faculty as “Dr.” You should address me as Dr. McGinnis or Professor McGinnis.

Try to learn the names of your classmates. If you cannot recall someone’s name, you should refer to them as “my esteemed colleague.”

Time Commitment: We will move quickly in this class, and the reading load is substantial. You should expect to invest approximately 3-4 hours per week of active work in the course. I recommend you log into OAKS at least 2-3 days per week to stay current. Additionally, you should check your College of Charleston email regularly.

I am aware of and sympathetic to the many challenges that college student experience, especially now in the time of COVID-19. If you are experiencing personal or health-related challenges, please communicate with me (sooner is better than later!). There are numerous resources that I can recommend, and, to the best of my ability, I will work with you to help you complete the course successfully.

Depending on circumstances, sometimes withdrawing from the class is the best option. Please consult the Registrar’s website for withdrawal deadlines. Regardless of your circumstances, please reach out to me or somebody else for support before and/or after deciding to withdraw from the class.

Academic Integrity Statement: Lying, cheating, attempted cheating, and plagiarism are violations of our Honor Code that, when suspected, are investigated. Each incident will be examined to determine the degree of deception involved.

Incidents where the instructor determines the student’s actions are related more to misunderstanding and confusion will be handled by the instructor. The instructor designs an intervention or assigns a grade reduction to help prevent the student from repeating the error. The response is recorded on a form and signed both by the instructor and the student. It is forwarded to the Office of the Dean of Students and placed in the student's file.

Cases of suspected academic dishonesty will be reported directly by the instructor and/or others having knowledge of the incident to the Dean of Students. A student found responsible by the Honor Board for academic dishonesty will receive a XXF in the course, indicating failure of the course due to academic dishonesty. This status indicator will appear on the student's transcript for two years after which the student may petition for the XX to be expunged. The F is permanent.

Students can find the complete Honor Code and all related processes in the Student Handbook at: <http://deanofstudents.cofc.edu/honor-system/studenthandbook/>.”

It is not permissible to turn in work for this class that was produced for another class without prior approval.

Note that written assignments in this course will be screened by plagiarism-detecting software.

Technology usage:

- Devices must be set to “silent” during class.
- Computers and tablets may be used, but this policy will change if they prove to be distracting.
- I encourage you to take notes by hand for this course – we will be interacting closely with the readings and you should be making notations on the text as you read and discuss.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Religious Holidays: Every effort will be made to avoid conflicts between assignments and religious holidays. If, however, you encounter such a conflict, please notify your me as soon as possible (and certainly within the first two weeks of class to allow time for accommodations to be made). Please review the College of Charleston's statement here:

<http://academicaffairs.cofc.edu/documents/procedures-and-practices/statement-of-accommodation.pdf>

Resources and accommodations

Religious Holidays: Every effort will be made to avoid conflicts between assignments and religious holidays. If, however, you encounter such a conflict, please notify me as soon as possible (and certainly within the first two weeks of class to allow time for accommodations to be made). Please review the College of Charleston's statement here:

<http://academicaffairs.cofc.edu/documents/procedures-and-practices/statement-of-accommodation.pdf>

Disability accommodations: The College will make reasonable accommodations for persons with documented disabilities. Students should apply at the Center for Disability Services/SNAP, located on the first floor of the Lightsey Center, Suite 104. You can contact Center at SNAP@cofc.edu or 843.953.1431.

Students approved for accommodations are responsible for notifying me as soon as possible and for contacting me one week before accommodation is needed. Please see me during office hours to discuss accommodations.

Center for Student Learning: I encourage you to utilize the Center for Student Learning's (CSL) academic support services for assistance in study strategies, speaking & writing skills, and course content. They offer tutoring, Supplemental Instruction, study skills appointments, and workshops. Students of all abilities have become more successful using these programs throughout their academic career and the services are available to you at no additional cost. The CSL is located on the first floor of Addlestone Library and they can assist you with writing term papers, essays, letters, memos or book reviews from developing ideas and organizing materials to editing final drafts (in addition to other services).

Students can visit the CSL website to sign up for help by following the website's directions and go into a drop-in session with Writing Lab Consultants. For more information regarding these services please visit the CSL website at <http://csl.cofc.edu>.

Food & Housing Resources: Many students report experiencing food and housing insecurity. If you are facing challenges in securing food (such as not being able to afford groceries or get sufficient food to eat every day) and housing (such as lacking a safe and stable place to live), please contact the Dean of Students for support: (<http://studentaffairs.cofc.edu/about/salt.php>).

Also, you can go to <http://studentaffairs.cofc.edu/student-food-housing-insecurity/index.php> to learn about food and housing assistance that is available to you. In addition, there are several resources on and off campus to help. You can visit the Cougar Pantry in the Stern Center (2nd floor), a student-run food pantry that provides dry-goods and hygiene products at no charge to any student in need. Please do not hesitate to speak with me if you are experiencing issues that affect your ability to fully participate.

Inclusion: College of Charleston offers many resources for LGBTQ+ students, faculty and staff along with their allies. I will gladly honor your request to address you by the name and pronouns of your choice. Please advise me of any request early in the semester via your college-issued email account or during office hours so that I may make the appropriate notation on my class list.

Mental & Physical Wellbeing: At the college, we take every student's mental and physical wellbeing seriously. If you find yourself experiencing physical illnesses, please reach out to student health services (843.953.5520). And if you find yourself experiencing any mental health challenges (for example, anxiety, depression, stressful life events, sleep deprivation, and/or loneliness/homesickness) please consider contacting either the Counseling Center (professional counselors at <http://counseling.cofc.edu> or 843.953.5640 3rd floor, Robert Scott Small Building) or the Students 4 Support (certified volunteers through texting "4support" to 839863, visit <http://counseling.cofc.edu/cct/index.php>, or meet with them in person 3rd Floor Stern Center). These services are there for you to help you cope with difficulties you may be experiencing and to maintain optimal physical and mental health.

Inclement Weather, Pandemic or Substantial Disruption Policy: For your reference, the College's disruption policy is below. This class is being offered fully online for the sake of safety and continuity. As such, it will proceed as scheduled unless the instructor notifies you otherwise.

If in-person classes are suspended, faculty will announce to their students a detailed plan for a change in modality to ensure the continuity of learning. All students must have access to a computer equipped with a web camera, microphone, and Internet access. Resources are available to provide students with these essential tools. Additional Student Support Services:

<http://capp.cofc.edu/Support%20Services/index.php>

Additional Policies: <http://policy.cofc.edu/policy.php>

Military members: Veterans and active duty military personnel with special circumstances (e.g., upcoming deployments, drill requirements, disabilities) are welcome and encouraged to communicate these, in advance if possible,

Technology: It is required that you have a computer with Internet access, microphone, and speakers. You must have a reliable Internet connection. Having to rely on the public library or Starbucks, for example, will likely make it challenging to have a consistent presence inside OAKS. If you are concerned, please contact me within the first week so we can determine if this course will be manageable for you. I have also included resources below if you have concerns about course access or financial burdens. If you have technical problems, please contact Student Computing Support or Helpdesk using these methods:

- Student Computing Support at 843.953.5457 or via email studentcomputingsupport@cofc.edu
- IT Helpdesk at 843.953.3375 or helpdesk@cofc.edu.

It's important to resolve technical problems swiftly, so do not delay getting support. Computer failure or unavailability does not constitute an excuse for not completing assignment.

OAKS: OAKS, including Gradebook, will be used for this course throughout the semester to provide the syllabus and class materials and grades for each assignment, which will be regularly posted.

Inclement Weather, Pandemic or Substantial Interruption of Instruction: If in-person classes are suspended, faculty will announce to their students a detailed plan for a change in modality to ensure the continuity of learning. All students must have access to a computer equipped with a web camera, microphone, and Internet access. Resources are available to provide students with these essential tools.

Face-to-face courses when students are quarantined/isolated due to Covid-19: If one or more students are absent for an extended period of time due to COVID-19 (quarantine or isolation), instructors may, at their discretion, conduct the class exclusively online via OAKS for the duration of student quarantine/isolation, record class lessons to share with students, or choose an alternate accommodation that provides the impacted student(s) with the opportunity to continue in the course. The specific accommodation will vary depending on the number of students affected, the expected duration of their absence, and the needs of the class.

Recording of Classes (via ZOOM): Class sessions may be recorded via both voice and video recording. By attending and remaining in this class, the student consents to being recorded. Recorded class sessions are for instructional use only and may not be shared with anyone who is not enrolled in the class.

Community Standards: While parts of this class are online, you are sharing the experience of working through important political problems with other people – not just usernames on a discussion board or representatives of a political position. Please bear this in mind when engaging with each other and be thoughtful in your contributions and generous in your interpretations.

Netiquette: Please bear in mind that online communication precludes many of the non-verbal cues that normally facilitate face-to-face communication. This being the case, it is important to err on the side of generous interpretation. What was written as a simple statement can easily come across as aggressive or argumentative.

Vignette: “Texting Confusion” from Key & Peele (Content warning: some spicy language):
<https://vimeo.com/121923151>

General Guidelines:

- Treat your instructor and classmates with respect in email, discussion posts, and any other communication.
- Please be civil: address people by the names and pronouns they specify.
- Use clear and concise language.
- Remember that all college-level communication should have correct spelling and grammar (this includes discussion board posts).
- Avoid slang terms (they may be misunderstood or confuse others) and texting abbreviations such as “r” instead of “are” or “u” for “you.”
- Use standard fonts such as Ariel, Calibri or Times new Roman and use a size 10 or 12 pt. font.
- CAPS LOCK MAKES IT SOUND LIKE YOU ARE YELLING. PLEASE DO NOT YELL AT US.
- Avoid the use of emojis; they are not appropriate for academic writing.
- Be cautious when using humor or irony. Tone is difficult to convey in an email or discussion post and your message might be taken amiss or come across in an offensive or passive-aggressive fashion.

Inclusion: The College of Charleston offers many resources for LGBTQ+ students, faculty and staff along with their allies.
